

AE Contract Terms and Conditions

Sample Question: Will the average electricity price for [sector] consumers in [region] exceed [##.##] cents per kilowatt-hour in [date]?

Product Code: AE[two letter region abbreviation][one letter sector abbreviation]

Instructions: The Electric Power Monthly Report is published by the Energy Information Administration (“EIA”), typically during the last week of each month, two months after the reference period. The release date for the upcoming report is announced at the time of the previous month’s publication. This contract is not subject to early resolution.

Underlying: The Underlying is the average retail price of electricity, measured in cents per kilowatt-hour, for a specified consumer sector within [region] and [time period]. The Underlying can be accessed: here, via the U.S. Energy Information Administration’s Electricity Data Browser. From the available electricity datasets, select “Average retail price of electricity”, then apply filters for Sector (e.g., Residential, Commercial, Industrial, Transportation, or All), Geography (U.S. or a specific state), and then monthly or annual as appropriate. Locate the row for the selected sector and the column for the specified month or year; the value in this cell is the Underlying. This contract will resolve based on the most recent revision available at the time of expiration. Links are provided for informational purposes only and the source agency may decide to publish the data at a different location at any time.

Resolution Time: Upon publication of the Electric Power Monthly Report by the EIA.

Changes in Resolution Time: The Resolution Time of a Forecast Contract is dependent on the time that the Source Agency releases the underlying data. There are circumstances in which ForecastEx will change the Resolution Time of a Contract as described below:

1. Delay by Source Agency: If the Source Agency delays the release of the underlying data required for Resolution, ForecastEx will delay the Resolution Time of the Contract until such data is released. In these circumstances, ForecastEx will release a public notice to its website informing Market Participants that the Resolution of the Contract has been delayed and release a second notice to its website informing Market Participants when the Contract is resolved.
2. Change in Release Schedule: ForecastEx sets the Resolution Time of each Contract based on either the published or anticipated release schedule of the Source Agency for the underlying data. If the Source Agency amends its release schedule or announces that it will publish the underlying data at a different time than anticipated, ForecastEx may, at its sole discretion, amend the Resolution Time of the Contract to match the updated release schedule when doing so is necessary to ensure the accurate and fair resolution of the contract. In these circumstances, ForecastEx will publish a public notice to its website informing Market Participants of the revised Resolution Time.
3. Event Review Process: In accordance with ForecastEx Rule 415, ForecastEx may, at its sole discretion, initiate the event review process prior to Settlement which may delay the Resolution of a Contract. In these cases, ForecastEx will publish a public notice to its website informing Market Participants that the Contract's Outcome is under review.
4. Early Resolution: If a Forecast Contract Resolves based on whether a specific event occurs before a defined point in time, it will be subject to early resolution. For these Contracts, if the Outcome of the contract becomes determinable prior to the scheduled Resolution Time – either because the event has occurred (resolving “Yes”) or because it can no longer occur (resolving “No”) – ForecastEx may, at its sole discretion, accelerate the Resolution Time of the Contract in accordance with ForecastEx Rule 413. Whether or not this Contract is subject to early resolution is specified in the Instructions section.

Expiration Time: Same as Resolution time.

Settlement Date: Unless the Outcome of the Contract is under review in accordance with ForecastEx Rule 415, Settlement of the Contract will occur no later than the day following Expiration Time.

Trading Restrictions: In accordance with ForecastEx Rule 509(h), persons are prohibited from participating in Average Electricity Price Forecast Contracts if they: possess any material non-public information regarding the Contract, are employees of the Source agency, or are decisionmakers, who directly or indirectly have any influence on the Outcome of the Contract.
