

O Contract Terms and Conditions

Sample Question: Will the monthly [average/high/low] temperature in [city] [exceed/be below] [##] F in [month] [year]?

Variables: [average/high/low]: The specific monthly temperature statistic being evaluated, as defined by NOAA. [city]: The city as defined and displayed by NOAA, typically corresponding to a specific reporting weather station or aggregated city location. [##]: The numeric temperature threshold, in degrees Fahrenheit, against which the selected temperature statistic is compared. [month] [year]: The calendar month and year for which the temperature measurement applies.

Product Code: O[one letter statistic code][three letter city code]

Instructions: The Climate at a Glance is published by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration following the conclusion of each calendar month, after all daily observations for the month have completed quality control and validation. Finalized monthly temperature values are typically published within the first two weeks of the subsequent month. This contract is not subject to early Resolution.

Underlying: The Monthly Temperatures Forecast Contract is resolved based upon the [average/highest/lowest] recorded temperature in the specified city during the month specified in the contract. The Underlying can be accessed here, where the Climate at a Glance is made publicly available. Select the relevant state and city in the contract question. Users select the applicable temperature parameter specified in the Contract, whether average temperature, maximum temperature, or minimum temperature, and set the time scale to one month. The relevant calendar month is selected, with the start year and end year set to the same year corresponding to the contract's resolution period. After plotting the data identify the temperature value for the selected month and year. Only the initial value displayed at the time of contract expiration will be considered for contract resolution. Links are provided for informational purposes only and the source agency may decide to publish the data at a different location at any time.

Resolution Time: 10:00 AM CT when the NOAA updated the Climate at a Glance report for the previous month.

Changes in Resolution Time: The Resolution Time of a Forecast Contract is dependent on the time that the Source Agency releases the Underlying data. There are circumstances in which ForecastEx will change the Resolution Time of a Contract as described below:

1. Delay by Source Agency: If the Source Agency delays the release of the underlying data required for Resolution, ForecastEx will delay the Resolution Time of the Contract until such data is released. In these circumstances, ForecastEx will release a public notice to its website informing Market Participants that the Resolution of the Contract has been delayed and release a second notice to its website informing Market Participants when the Contract is resolved.
2. Change in Release Schedule: ForecastEx sets the Resolution Time of each Contract based on either the published or anticipated release schedule of the Source Agency for the underlying data. If the Source Agency amends its release schedule or announces that it will publish the underlying data at a different time than anticipated, ForecastEx may, at its sole discretion, amend the Resolution Time of the Contract to match the updated release schedule when doing so is necessary to ensure the accurate and fair resolution of the contract. In these circumstances, ForecastEx will publish a public notice to its website informing Market Participants of the revised Resolution Time.
3. Event Review Process: In accordance with ForecastEx Rule 415, ForecastEx may, at its sole discretion, initiate the event review process prior to Settlement which may delay the Resolution of a Contract. In these cases, ForecastEx will publish a public notice to its website informing Market Participants that the Contract’s Outcome is under review.
4. Early Resolution: If a Forecast Contract Resolves based on whether a specific event occurs before a defined point in time, it will be subject to early resolution. For these Contracts, if the Outcome of the contract becomes determinable prior to the scheduled Resolution Time – either because the event has occurred (resolving “Yes”) or because it can no longer occur (resolving “No”) – ForecastEx may, at its sole discretion, accelerate the Resolution Time of the Contract in accordance with ForecastEx Rule 413. Whether or not this Contract is subject to early resolution is specified in the Instructions section.

Expiration Time: Same as Resolution time.

Settlement Date: Unless the Outcome of the Contract is under review in accordance with ForecastEx Rule 415, Settlement of the Contract will occur no later than the day following Expiration Time.

Trading Restrictions: In accordance with ForecastEx Rule 509(h), persons are prohibited from participating in Monthly Temperatures Forecast Contracts if they: possess any material non-public information regarding the Contract, are employees of the Source agency, or are decisionmakers, who directly or indirectly have any influence on the Outcome of the Contract.
